New Daystar Hood Wranglers Stop TJ Hood Flutter

Daystar Products has once again delivered an easy solution to an irritating problem. Thanks to the popularity of Daystar's Hood Wranglers for the 2007-2010 Jeep Wrangler JK, Daystar now offers Hood Wranglers for the 1997-2006 Jeep Wrangler TJ. Daystar's Hood Wranglers upgrade the inferior stock hood latches and keep the hood securely shut; no more alarming hood flutter while on the road!

The Jeep Wrangler TJ is a legend in the off road world, but Jeep engineers missed the mark when it came to designing the hood latches. Constructed of weak and stretch-prone rubber, the factory hood latches allow the hood to flutter while the vehicle is in motion; only the secondary safety catch keeps the hood from flying open. The problem is even more apparent once the vehicle has been lifted. The hood shake or "flutter," which is annoying and often unsettling, has a very easy fix with Daystar's Hood Wranglers.

The Hood Wranglers upgrade the weak factory latches by replacing the rubber pieces with a heavy-duty Polyurethane material. The Hood Wranglers strengthen the latches and keep the hood securely shut regardless of vehicle speeds. Further, the Hood Wranglers include all of the necessary hardware and detailed instructions for installation.

In addition to the Hood Wranglers for the TJ and JK, Daystar offers a complete line of suspension components and accessories, including interior panels, suspension and body lifts, and Poly Flex control arms for Jeep vehicles.
